WHAT:

Pennsylvania Attorney General Dave Sunday will announce action against a major social media company regarding the company's misrepresentations of content available on its platforms, and for failures to warn and protect children and families about the dangers of compulsive use.

Attorney General Sunday will be joined by Senator Pennycuick and Representative Ciresi, who chair their respective chamber's Communications and Technology Committees. They will discuss action at the legislative level that aims to shield children and families from harmful tech and unhealthy online habits.
